The California Student Aid Commission is responsible for administering financial aid programs for students attending public and private universities, colleges, and vocational schools in California. The Commission's central mission is promoting educational equity by making postsecondary education affordable for all Californians.

About the Commission's Programs

The Outreach and Marketing Unit is responsible for the management and administration of the Commission's outreach and marketing programs, including the Cash for College program. The Outreach and Marketing unit promotes the Commission's programs including the Cal Grant, California Dream Act Application, Middle Class Scholarship, California Chafee Grant for Foster Youth, and various Specialized Programs. The unit is also responsible for establishing new partnerships with communities to provide program services.

Highlights of the Job

Under the general direction of the Staff Services Manager I of the Outreach and Marketing unit within the Executive Offices' Public and Policy Affairs Division, the Associate Governmental Program Analyst (AGPA) works with internal and external stakeholders, community organizations, and other partners to reach under-served populations. The AGPA identifies, analyzes, and responds to outreach and marketing program and system issues, inclusive of specialized programs, and partners with community organizations to help families and students complete financial aid applications (FAFSA, California Dream Act Application, Chafee, etc.). The AGPA will review application submission data to identify high schools and colleges with low application rates and identify strategies to assist those communities to increase the rates. Additionally, the incumbent may serve as a liaison to various Commission committees, segmental bodies, workgroups, provide customer support to internal and external stakeholders and related financial aid associations. The incumbent advises and provides analytical support to the team and develops strategic relationships with key stakeholders. The AGPA researches and analyzes program and policy issues in preparation of reports and assists in preparation of major presentations for the Outreach and Marketing Manager and special requests from Executive Management.
